

REDS SPLIT NAZI ARMY IN POLAND

BATTLE HELD
BACK BY MUD
IN NORMANDYBRITISH PUSH INTO
TROARN BUT DRAW
BACK AGAIN

BY JAMES M. LONG

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Tuesday, July 25 (AP)—Breaking a four-day lull on the Normandy front, British and Canadian troops opened a new drive south and slightly east of Caen early today along the Falaise road.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's headquarters announcement said the attack was made on a wide front against German positions astride the road and added that heavy fighting is going on.

The new drive came after Allied and German armies traded inconclusive blows in Normandy yesterday.

Only two actions were reported along the 100-mile front as the Allies regrouped to mount the next phase of the breakout attacks, mired down on the British front in torrential rain four days ago.

Eight miles east of Caen, the British pushed into the western part of Troarn, Dives river strong-point blocking the highway to the big port of La Harve, struck stiff resistance and withdrew to the railway station just west of the town.

Yank Wedge Erased

The Germans erased an American wedge which had been driven to within two miles of Periers, guarding the road south to Coutances and Avranches, side door to the Brittany peninsula and its naval base at Brest.

Americans yielded the village of Seves and withdrew to the north bank of the river of the same name, where they hold strong positions two and a half miles north of Periers.

The quiet on the front was attributed as much to the weather, which closed in and again restricted aerial operations, as to the deliberate preparations for the coming major strokes.

(Southwest of Caen, the Germans acknowledged loss of strategic Maltot, but claimed possession of dominant "Crucifix Hill" 112, north of Evrecy. Official Allied accounts yesterday said the hill still was firmly in Allied hands.)

It appeared obvious a new offensive to break the stalemate would

Encircled Hengyang
Penetrated Again;
Jap Losses Heavy

Chungking, July 24 (AP)—Strong Japanese units in severe counterattacks penetrated the southwestern outskirts of encircled Hengyang in Hunan province yesterday and both sides suffered heavy losses in the bitter battle which ensued, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

The Chinese had been attacking the southwestern suburb positions of the Japanese for several days in an attempt to effect a major breakthrough at that point.

On all sides, the weary defenders of the Canton-Hankow railway city were engaged in heavy fighting. The high command claimed "our positions were safe" after repeated Japanese counterattacks. North and northeast of the city, a communiqué said, Chinese troops took several important villages.

JAPS TRAPPED IN GUAM PUSH
BY AMERICANSNEW INVASION ON TINIAN ISLAND
MADE SUNDAY

BY CHARLES H. MURTRY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, July 24 (AP)—Marines advanced 1,500 yards inland on the north end of Tinian island and captured the western third of the 1,500-yard-long Tinian airstrip, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced tonight.

The American assault forces which conquered Saipan island, three miles to the north, landed on Tinian Sunday, on the north-west coast adjacent to the Tshi Point airfield.

Earlier today Nimitz announced that American invaders of Guam, at the end of the Marianas chain 125 miles south of Tinian, have completely cut off Japanese troops on Orute peninsula, site of Guam's main airfield.

Elements of the Second and Fourth marine divisions, conquerors of Saipan, by nightfall Sunday had firmly secured a beachhead two and a half miles long and had penetrated inland 1,500 yards at several places.

Casualties Light
"Our casualties through July 23 were light," Admiral Nimitz said in tonight's communiqué, Sunday, July 23, was Tinian's D-Day.

"The situation may be considered well in hand," the communiqué added.

On Guam, the Third Marines approached to within less than a mile of Agaña town and extended their beachhead inland 2,900 yards, the deepest penetration yet made. This force is operating in the northern battle sector, on the west-central coast of the island.

To the south, the first Marines and units of the 77th Infantry division cooperated to hem in an unknown number of Japanese on the Orute peninsula, where Guam's largest airfield is located. The only possibility of escape for the trapped enemy was by barges or other small craft to unsecured parts of the island. The success of such a flight was highly improbable. Virtually all the enemy's available shipping had been knocked out and American warships were lying off shore for continuing bombardments in support of the ground thrust.

Heavy Losses

BY ROBERT EUNSON

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Tuesday, July 25 (AP)—American artillery and rifle fire turned back three desperate Japanese attacks along the Drinlu river front in British New Guinea, headquarters announced today.

The Japanese attacked Saturday night and Sunday. The few isolated units which managed to infiltrate the American lines are being wiped out, the announcement said.

Enemy casualties are running into the thousands.

A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur said the counted dead in the Wewak sector even before the last attacks began totaled 1,474. An estimated 45,000 Japanese, trapped between Australian forces along the Sepik river on the east and Americans at Aitape on the west, are attempting to drive through the American block into the comparative safety of Dutch New Guinea.

MacArthur's planes meanwhile continued their support of American landing operations in the Marianas, far to the north, by hammering Palau, Yap and Woleai in the Carolines. Two of eight intercepting enemy planes were destroyed at Yap.

Vichy Is Isolated
By Maquis Forces

London, July 24 (AP)—An authoritative French source said today that Vichy had been completely isolated, with all roads, railroads and telephone lines into the collaborationist capital cut by Maquis forces. This source commented the isolation was essential in harassing operation and probably was only temporary.

Driver Stays With Burning Dynamite
Truck On Highway

Bakersfield, Calif., July 24 (AP)—When a truck laden with 1,500 pounds of dynamite caught fire today, the driver stayed at the wheel until he was able to maneuver his dangerous cargo into a field well off the highway.

Passing motorists went to his help but the driver, Lynn Stackler, Lindsay, Calif., shouted them off and after he made his way to safety the explosives let loose with a roar heard over a radius of 10 miles.

No one was hurt, reported State Highway Patrol Capt. Roy Galyen, but parts of the disintegrated truck were found more than a quarter of a mile away.

YANKS CLOSE IN
ON GOTHIC LINECity Of Pisa Cleared Up,
Florence Almost Within Grasp

BY NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 24 (AP)—The end of the first year of Italy's revolt against Fascism found American troops firmly established tonight along the southern bank of the Arno river between Florence and Pisa and preparing to assault the "Gothic line" guarding the one-third of Italy still in enemy hands.

Doughboys already had fought their way through all of the historic city of Pisa which lies south of the Arno and were swiftly annihilating the few enemy pockets of resistance remaining east of the city. Advance American elements crossed the Arno canal and occupied Cascina, nine miles east of Pisa.

Florence, great inland communications center and shrine of the arts, was almost within the grasp of other Fifth army forces slugging northward along highway No. 2 from Poggibonsi. Latest field reports placed this column in the village of Strada, only 12 miles from the outskirts of Florence.

The enemy's determination to delay the assault on his "Gothic line" as long as possible was reflected in bitter, suicidal rear-guard action and in desperate but futile counterattacks.

Unions Agree With Veterans To Give
Seniority Rights

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The CIO and the AFL have agreed with the Veterans of Foreign Wars to grant job seniority rights to returning veterans on a basis of one month's seniority in each month spent in the armed forces after Sept. 1, 1940.

The agreement is embodied in a statement of general policy on post-war relations between labor and veterans announced tonight by VFW's National Commander Carl J. Shoeninger of Detroit.

High-ranking leaders of each union sat in on the conferences and while the declaration of policy is not necessarily binding on individual unions in the AFL and CIO, it will be recommended to them and labor and VFW representatives alike expressed confidence that it will be adopted fully.

In addition to the seniority formula, the agreement provides that qualified, skilled veterans will be entitled to union membership at pre-war initiation charges and at current dues rates; affirms labor's right to organize and bargain collectively; and declares that a disabled veteran unable to hold his old job, should be given consideration for other work by his former employer.

GESTAPO IRON
HAND IS STILL
RULING REICHANTI - HITLER GROUP
NOT ALL WIPED OUT AS YET

(By The Associated Press)

London, July 24 (AP)—The Nazis still ruled Germany tonight under the iron hand of the gestapo, but advances from the Reich's frontier declared the purge had wiped out only a few of the leaders among the army conspirators determined to liquidate Adolf Hitler and all his regime.

A reliable report to the Associated Press said the only member of a "high committee of opposition" who had been caught was the executed Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, who had been warned of arrest and was taken by accident.

Heinrich Himmler, the gestapo's head executioner, "doesn't even know who the members of the committee are," this account said, although the committee, embracing Catholic and Evangelical representatives as well as the military, was said to have existed for more than half a year.

High Officers Killed
Hitler set out to Nazify his army completely as the Berlin radio announced that Thursday's bomb which reportedly singled him had taken the lives of two high-ranking officers.

The victims were Col. Gen. Guenther Korten, chief of the German air force general staff, and Major Gen. Heinz Brandt, first officer in the army general staff's operative section.

Previously the Nazis had announced the death of Hitler's "double," Heinrich Berger, whose name first was given as Berger.

The Nazi salute, with a "Heil Hitler" where appropriate, was ordered for all German armed forces, which hitherto usually have executed the more military gesture of the hand to the forehead.

This was accompanied by continued junking of Prussian commanders on the western front in favor of graduates of the party school, whose training has been more in street brawls than in tactical maneuvers.

War Effort Lags
Frontier reports said Germany was quiet with SS and Nazi-offered units in control, but the Germans acknowledged that the war effort had bogged down.

A lag in recruiting and supply was acknowledged by the Nazi newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, but it was blamed on the "hindering and sabotaging" of the revolting generals.

DNB declared the attempted assassination had increased the will of the German people to resist.

King George Visits
Italian War Front

Rome, July 24 (AP)—King George VI of England, trim in the dark olive green uniform of a field marshal, landed today in Italy on an inspection tour which will carry him to forward battle fronts approaching Pisa, Florence and Rimini.

The king's big plane with Beau-fighter and Spitfire escort landed on a bomb-battered airport at 5:15 p. m. after flying from Britain.

Runways at the airport were smooth but most buildings were shattered or flattened by Allied bombs while the Germans held it.

Return of the 1,200 workers to the Norge plant will permit resumption of the production of gun mounts.

Bombers Batter Kiel;
Oil Reserve Destroyed

BY ERNEST AGNEW

London, Tuesday, July 25 (AP)—Another heavy RAF night raid on Germany as well as an attack on Berlin by Mosquito bombers was indicated by the Nazi radio early today as big British bombers swept across the channel in a follow-up to their previous night's blast at the naval base of Kiel and daylight blows by U. S. bombers striking from Italy.

A large force of RAF bombers was heard roaring across England's southeast coast last night at dusk and later the whole radio network in the Reich blacked out.

The enemy's air raid warning service earlier reported single enemy planes, a term usually meaning Mosquitoes, over Berlin.

Up to 500 Italy-based American heavy bombers pounded German airbases, harbors and other targets in France, Yugoslavia and northern Italy during the day.

er the RAF had delivered the heaviest and most concentrated assault of the war on the Nazis' great northern naval base of Kiel.

The air war rolled forward by daylight today from two directions. Besides the triple blows by the Mediterranean-based bombers, RAF Lancasters blasted robot bomb installations in France for the third time in 24 hours, and other planes supported troops fighting in France.

The night's attacks included heavy assaults against an oil storage depot at Donges near St. Nazaire in France.

Throughout the day the Germans hurled more of the robot bombs at southern England, including the London area. The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet said the Nazis now were producing the winged projectiles at a rate of more than 4,000 per day, in preparation for what the newspaper called the "second phase" of Hitler's revenge bombing.

Crews which participated in the attack on the Donges oil storage depot said that after they had identified the targets visually, they saw a huge column of smoke rising 10,000 feet, followed by other explosions and general conflagrations whose glare made it difficult to see the markers.

The air ministry said there was every indication the raid had cost the Germans a great part of a strategic oil reserve needed for immediate operations in France.

Briggs And Norgo Union
Disputes Halt Vital
Arms Production

(By The Associated Press)

Striking employees in two Michigan factories voted Monday to return to their jobs, while workers in a third war plant continued a work stoppage.

Jess Ferrazza, president of Local 212, United Automobile Workers (CIO), announced that employees of the Briggs Manufacturing company's Outer drive plant voted to return to work Tuesday morning.

The employees, after working only about two hours Monday morning, walked out for the second time within two days, halting production of ball turrets for bombers. They stopped work Saturday in a dispute over job transfers for 42 men.

At Lansing, Motor Wheel corporation closed down all production of landing wheels for B-29 Superfortresses as a result of the strike of UAW-AFL members at the Centrifugal Fastening company plant. The strike was called in protest over the company's refusal to reinstate a union officer dismissed more than a year ago.

Meanwhile employees of the Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation at Muskegon Heights, on strike since last Wednesday, voted to return to work at midnight tonight (Monday) after their dispute over the discharge of a union steward had been certified to the War Labor Board.

Return of the 1,200 workers to the Norge plant will permit resumption of the production of gun mounts.

LUBLIN FALLS,
RUSSIANS ARE NEAR WARSAWBREST LITOVSK CUT
OFF; GERMANS FLEE
IN DISORDER

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Tuesday, July 25. (AP)—Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian armies yesterday split the reeling German forces in Poland by capturing the rail city of Lublin and topping Lukow, only 60 miles southeast of Warsaw, while the First Ukraine Army in the south leaped the San river at several points in a direct drive on German Silesia, less than 150 miles away.

A special Moscow communiqué also announced that the Germans had lost 539,890 troops killed and captured since the gigantic Soviet summer offensive began June 23. These casualties were inflicted by only four Russian armies, and there are at least seven now hurling the Germans back on an 800-mile front from the Baltic to the Carpathian Mountains.

Axis Losses 587,065
Marshal Ivan S. Konev's troops who jumped the San River in the south have killed or captured at least 47,175 Germans in a single trap northeast of Lwow, the daily communiqué said. This boosted German losses in one month of the whirlwind Soviet offensive to at least 587,065.

The troops of Rokossovsky, son of a Warsaw cobbler, also captured Belzhitze, 13 miles southwest of Lublin, in an overpowering drive which put the Russians less than 20 miles from the Wisla (Vistula) River—the last Axis natural defense line before Germany itself.

At the northern end of the front other Russian forces attacking west of Pskov captured Poddubye, nine miles northwest of Pskov and almost on the southern Estonian border.

Escape Railway Severed
By capturing Lublin, the geographic center of old Poland, the Russians split the German armies of the north and south on the east side of the Wisla and San Rivers; by toppling Lukow, the shock troops of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian army severed the German escape railway from Brest Litovsk, where Berlin said other Soviet units had broken into the city.

Siedlce, only 50 miles east of Warsaw and 20 miles north of Lukow, was given up under pressure of the Soviet steamroller, Berlin said.

Moscow dispatches said the German debacle was growing hourly. The Axis bastions of Lwow and Brest Litovsk were cut off in Poland, Daugavpils in Latvia was almost encircled, and the broken German legions were fleeing in disorder on many sectors of the front between the Baltic Sea and the Carpathian Mountains.

Under the relentless Soviet attack the Germans also announced the abandonment of Jaroslaw in southern Poland, 60 miles west of by-passed Lwow. Poland's third largest city which the Russians had cut off. Berlin said Soviet shock troops had broken into Lwow.

GIRLS SET FREE
IN NAZI ESCAPECharges May Still Be Filed In Owosso
Cannery Lark

Bay City, Mich., July 24 (AP)—Federal warrants were issued here tonight against Shirley Druce, 18, and Kitty Case, 20, of Bennington, who were arrested last Friday in a wood near Owosso with two escaped German prisoners of war.

The warrants, signed by U. S. Commissioner Clarence Pettit, charge the girls with conspiracy to defraud the government by "impairing, obstructing and defeating the lawful function of the war department in retaining lawful and proper custody of prisoners of war under the provision of the Geneva convention."

The two girls, who were held for two days in the Shiawassee county jail at Owosso, were released Sunday on orders from the department of justice. No explanation was given.

The two prisoners, Gottfried Hobel and Erik Claassen, both 20, who escaped from a work camp at Owosso, were part of a contingent of prisoners working in an Owosso cannery plant, where the girls also were employed.

Lapeer Insurance

Lapeer, Mich., July 24 (AP)—Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara today began a one-man grand jury into the affairs of the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company.

Petition for the inquiry was made by Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton to Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, presiding judge of Michigan, who named O'Hara as the attorney general said the Lapeer county judges and prosecuting attorney had disqualified themselves.

Rushton named R. Glenn Dunn, assistant attorney general, to assist O'Hara in the questioning of witnesses.

Boss Kelly Didn't Like Razzing At Convention

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Chicago—The towering events taking place to the east and west of this convention city, across the oceans, make the show here look small indeed. The signs, and you hardly dare believe them, point to the crack-up of the axis.

What is beginning to happen in Germany is breath-taking, terrifying—the end of a monstrous thing that has defiled and dirtied the whole earth, and hurt and maimed and destroyed human beings everywhere. In Japan, on the other side of the world, the first split has appeared.

The Republicans complained a month ago that the war news was blanketing their rally. Some stalwarts hinted darkly that Roosevelt had planned it that way. They blamed him for the torrid weather, too.

But what if they had had this kind of competition? Revolt in Germany—Tojo out. I guess the president must have planned this too, so people wouldn't notice the family quarrel brewed up in the course of picking a vice-presidential candidate.

It's difficult when you're so close to a story to tell what impact it is making beyond the immediate radius of the shouting and the confusion. Somehow, however, I feel that part of this story has got through.

Grass Roots for Wallace

Looking at the grassroots support for Henry Wallace, you could see a parallel, curiously enough, with a strong force that ran through the Republican convention, too. It was the resentment of the states between the Appalachians and the Rockies toward the two seaboard, and particularly toward the east. But the familiar combination of the bossed cities and the old south were strong enough to defeat Wallace in the face of the support from labor.

The Roving Reporter

Navy colored boys were hard put to keep the tables waited on.

One of these was a little sailor nicknamed Pee-wee, who hasn't been out in the big world very much. At first you think he is sullen, but later you learn it is just a facial expression and he means all right. One day he went to Captain Walker and said:

"Captain, I guess you think I'm grouchy, but it ain't that. It's just that I'm worrying all the time."

Captain Walker had been trying to teach Pee-wee some nice dining-room manners. Trying to teach him to put things before his guests delicately, and not to jostle the guests or throw things at them.

One day I was eating next to the captain, and an Army colonel was at the same table. Pee-wee wanted the colonel to get up and make room for somebody else, so he just reached over the colonel's shoulder and started mopping the table with a wet cloth, sort of pushing the colonel out of the way as he did so.

The colonel took the hint and got up and left. The captain saw it, and was a little embarrassed. So he said to Pee-wee, in a very kindly voice:

"Pee-wee, you kind of bruised the colonel, didn't you?"

And Pee-wee, not getting the subtle hint, and taking the Captain literally, replied:

"No, sir, I didn't push him hard enough to hurt him."

The captain just shook his head in despair and went on eating.

Among the army personnel aboard our ship was Capt. Warren Pershing, son of Gen. Pershing. The captain, who is not a professional soldier at all, started out as a private in this war. He is in the engineers.

He is a tall, blonde, regular fellow and everybody likes him. He leans over backward not to trade on his father's name. He doesn't speak of the general unless you ask him.

I asked if the general was still at Walter Reed hospital. He said yes, and that his father was very excited because they had just built him a penthouse on the hospital roof.

I have been told that despite his age and poor health General Pershing is very close to this war, and that some of our general staff call on him almost daily for advice and counsel.

On the way across the channel, Captain Pershing's commanding officer gave him a mission to perform the moment we hit the beach. His mission was to steal a bulldozer at a certain spot, right away.

I checked up a couple of days later to see if he had succeeded. He not only showed up with the bulldozer but with a hundred men as well. He even got the bulldozer without stealing it. Just talked somebody out of it.

MORTAR SHOOTS SMOKE

The principal weapon of America's smoke warfare is the fast-firing new 4.21 inch chemical warfare mortar.

and the marginal states. That is the real meaning of Senator Truman's nomination.

The fervor for Wallace came from the less prosperous states, the states where forests have been cut down and soils exhausted. From the same marginal areas came the submerged hostility toward the nomination of Governor Dewey: A whispering you could hear in lobbies and corridors that the choice had been dictated by powerful interests quite outside the influence of the common people in the great middle band of states.

Similarly, the delegates to the Democratic convention from the hinterland flared out at Bossism. They were not deceived by the clumsy behind-the-scenes wire-pulling.

Convention's Big Laugh

The real laugh of the convention came after Mayor Kelly's speech nominating Senator Scott Lucas for vice president. Hardly had the mayor stopped speaking when a procession filed in from the back of the hall. They were the boys from the wards back of the tracks, who were lined up with Lucas banners for what was laughingly called a demonstration.

What made it so funny was that they looked completely and absolutely the part. They had all the high enthusiasm, the fine ardor, of those spear carriers who are hired to walk on stage in "Aida" and similar operas. For realism, Hollywood couldn't have touched it. Having filed sheepishly around the hall, they marched out again.

No one over the age of five could possibly have been deceived. It stood, this stirring "demonstration," as a kind of symbol of the boss technique. Mayor Kelly didn't like the reception he got. He isn't accustomed to being laughed at and shouted down in his own Chicago.

Of course, there was organization behind the Wallace enthusiasm, plenty of it. Those Wallace signs didn't blossom out in the gallery without a lot of work on the part of the CIO political action committee and other groups trying to renominate the vice-president.

But something more than organization was behind the Wallace drive. It was the steam of real emotion and genuine feeling for a man who stands for something whether you like that something or not. That steam comes out of the little towns, the lonely farms, the cut-over country.

From these same areas come a very high proportion of the men who are fighting the great battles in the east and the west, and these plain people know it. If they don't make themselves heard in this campaign, they'll be heard from later, and you can mark that down as a sure thing.

Mrs. Donald Duffy Of Escanaba Dies In Milwaukee, Wis.

Mrs. Donald Duffy, 43, of 1405 Ludington street, the former Mae Richer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richer, died at 4:30 o'clock Monday morning at Sacred Heart Sanatorium in Milwaukee. She had been ill for the past month, suffering from heart trouble.

Mrs. Duffy was born in Escanaba on December 5, 1900, and was a life-long resident of this community. She attended the public schools and was a graduate of Escanaba high school and also of Cleveland Commercial college. Her marriage to Mr. Duffy took place at St. Anne's church on June 21, 1921.

She was a member of St. Anne's social club and of the Auxillary to the B. A. of R. E.

Surviving are her husband, and three brothers, William, Walter and Thomas Richer, of this city. There are also three nieces and two nephews: Mary Ann, Mary Jane and Ethel Mae Richer, Thomas Richer, Jr., and Bob Williams. Her mother died August 9, 1943.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home where it will be in state this evening. Funeral services will be held at a solemn requiem high mass Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church, Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin officiating, and burial will be in the family lot in St. Anne's cemetery.

Robbery, Assault Case Investigated

Investigation was continued yesterday by Escanaba police in the case of Russell Cameron of Sault Ste. Marie, who was beaten and robbed early Saturday morning in the alley at the rear of the Daily Press building.

Cameron told police that two well-dressed men beat and kicked him, took about $20 in cash but returned $290 in pay checks. Cameron was employed on the Cleveland Cliffs ore carrier "Zenith," left the boat here and was planning to return to his home in the Sault.

Sunday morning two Daily Press carriers found Cameron's empty wallet in the alley at the rear of the post office building. The boys are Jerome Persons of 805 South 10th street, and John Watts of 306 South 10th street.

Police Chief Michael Ettenhofer said the police have questioned several suspects, but Cameron was unable to identify any of them as the men who assaulted him. Cameron suffered painful face and neck injuries from the beating he received.

Cannot Last Long

HITLER and Himmler doubtless will be able to stamp out the revolt of the Junkers clique which made an unsuccessful attempt to snuff out the life of the Nazi Fuehrer with a bomb.

But the ruthless purge that the Gestapo is undertaking will rob the German army of some of its finest officer material. In so doing, the Wehrmacht will be without the military brains it must have to stem the tide of Allied victory that now threatens the Reich.

The news of the conflict between the Junkers and the Nazi political leaders has filtered down to the men in the ranks, and this has resulted in a marked sagging of morale. Without high morale, the Germans are poor fighters. There are indications, too, that the anti-Hitler plot was not confined to a few top ranking officers, but had spread throughout the Reich. This is hinted by the fact that Hitler has made fervent appeals to the men of the army to remain steadfast to him.

Civilian morale also must have suffered a rude shock in the Reich. Although the Gestapo maintains a terrorizing control over the people, the loss in spirit is bound to be felt in lowered industrial production and the dampening of the Germans' ardor for war. Morale is an intangible thing, but nevertheless its effects are transmitted throughout a nation, whether for good or bad.

The revolts and the purges are definite signs of the beginning of Germany's internal disintegration. It is something that cannot be stopped by impassioned radio speeches by Hitler and Goebbels, and ruthless executions by Himmler's henchmen. It is the beginning of the end.

Butter Points Up

THE OPA announced on Sunday that 16 ration points would be required in the future for the purchase of a pound of creamery butter as compared to the former value of 12 points.

This announcement was made without any previous leaks of information concerning the OPA plans, and so a buying rush by hoarders was thereby avoided. This is as it should be.

The ration value of creamery butter had been pegged at 16 points on last Oct. 3, but was cut to 12 points on April 30 when the supply of the dairy product eased. Then, in view of the fact that civilians were eating it at the rate of 20 per cent over the daily allocation of 100,000,000 pounds, the point value was advanced four points this week. However, farm butter will continue at eight points a pound and processed butter at four.

Whatever the critics may say about it, the point system has presented itself as the only effective plan for controlling the supply of civilian goods. We have only to recall the feverish runs on stores for scarce goods just before rationing went into effect to satisfy ourselves on this score. Rationing has given the little fellow a chance to get his just share of the necessities of life.

Sport Will Grow

WHILE many boating enthusiasts are now in military service, there are enough of them left to keep up interest in yachting until they are able to return to Lake Michigan waters in greater numbers than in the past.

Sailing craft do not use rationed gasoline, and so Lake Michigan yachtsmen appear to be spending more time than usual on their boats last season. Interest in yachting has taken an upswing locally, for instance, with the arrival of some important Mackinac race contestants for participation in the Escanaba Yacht club's cruise. To local yachtsmen this is a high compliment, indeed.

Quite likely, Escanaba will be a popular rendezvous for Lake Michigan yachtsmen in the postwar years. It has taken some time for Escanaba to erase the bad reputation the oil-smeared waters in its harbor gave it before the mooring basin was created on the south shore.

The yacht basin, however, is only a part of a long-term program for the development of the south shore in one of the most attractive recreational areas on Lake Michigan. As it nears completion, Escanaba will be in a better position to bid for vacationists to come here to stay for the summer instead of an overnight stop.

Jobs From Highways

BACK in the depression thirties, the building of roads presented itself as the most suitable public works project from the standpoint of furnishing employment to the jobless at once and realizing some economic benefits from the monies expended.

Indications are that highway construction will play an important role in the readjustment period that will follow the demobilization of our armed forces after the war. To hold up its end in meeting postwar employment demands, highway transportation alone will have to provide about one million more jobs than it has ever done before, according to studies of the American Road Builders' association.

The association's records show that in 1940 there were approximately 46 million people either jobless or engaged in emergency work. The prospects are that the postwar labor force will total about 56 million. Doubt is expressed that business and industry can provide the jobs needed when ten million service men and some twenty million war workers are released.

Consequently, public works construction is seen by the association as an urgent necessity to supplement private employment. Highways and secondary roads are undergoing terrific wear and tear in the industrial areas, and quite likely there will be much new building and repair work to do. In the Upper Peninsula, there will be a greater need than ever for tourist roads, all of which should provide employment for returning veterans and displaced war plant workers.

New U. P. Industries

EMULATING Escanaba's industrial expansion program, Iron Mountain was successful in the past year in attracting a garment factory, which now has a sizeable payroll with the recent receipt of a government order. Last week, announcement was also made that a new concern had been organized to make dimension lumber at the Von Platen-Fox mill site for the toy trade.

Like Escanaba, the city of Iron Mountain is seeking to diversify its industrial economy. It was able to get the small industries started because it had the buildings readily available, a major inducement in itself in these times when new construction is restricted due to wartime conditions.

Doubtless, there are other Upper Peninsula communities that have vacant industrial buildings. With a little initiative, their chambers of commerce and civic organizations quite likely could find some concerns to occupy them. If this were done, the Upper Peninsula region as a whole would benefit. Escanaba and Iron Mountain cannot do the industrial expansion job alone.

MR. RUSHTON RETIRES

Marquette Mining Journal

Decision of Attorney General Rushton not to seek renomination and to give his attention, henceforth, to his personal affairs means departure from public life in the state of a man who has been prominent in it since the first administration as governor of Fred Green.

He was elected in the Delta senatorial district in the year Green was elected and became the senate floor leader for the administration. He had much weight during the Green regime. It was thrown in favor of designation of Escanaba as the location of the Upper Peninsula state fair. In the following years, whether his party's political fortunes were good or bad, he had a considerable part in shaping its decisions. He was nominated attorney general four years ago, with acclaim, in recognition of his services to the party and in confidence that he would have the office a vigorous administration.

Whatever may be the truth about the issues that developed between him and Judge Carr, the one man grand jury probing irregularities, in recent years, among Michigan officials, the differences between them relegated him to the background in handling of the inquiry and cases, and created a situation affecting him that caused prediction that he would not seek renomination.

Recent months have seen Mr. Rushton comparatively inactive in politics. He had no part in the effort to defeat Mr. McKay as national committeeman and took no active part in the contest between Keyes and Brown in the recent primary. His abstention from his usual activity in efforts to deal with party situations was another sign foretelling announcement of decision to retire.

Mr. Rushton had a lot of fun in politics and public life. He will be missed.

BROMFIELD'S LATEST

(Milwaukee Journal)

Louis Bromfield didn't starve. He survived the famine which, as a "farm authority," he predicted in August, 1943—survived it to appear in Chicago as the Democratic convention gathers and charge President Roosevelt with being a Hitler and those who support him with being a Nazi group.

That is poor taste—very poor. Coming from the kind of prophet Mr. Bromfield has proved to be, it smells.

The farmer-novelist of Ohio really ought to watch himself. Surely he doesn't want, in what he thinks and says, to land in that group of crackpots that now makes up such an unwholesome roll of Americans. He's sliding that way.

When reports of Jap murders, torture and rapines in Nanking first reached this country they were widely discounted.

When the Japs treated white troops and nurses in Hongkong with similar brutality our doubters sat up and took notice. When, at last, Americans escaped from Jap prison camps in the Philippines told their experiences, all question of Japanese inhumanity disappeared.

The Chinese have long declared the Japs were using poison gas without arousing any particular interest in the United States. An American Army officer at the scene having confirmed the report of gas attacks at Hengyang, Americans will now believe it.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

The Republicans started it, and so the major blame rests upon them. Deciding that their convention needed something more than routine political materials, they gave a prominent place on their program to the attractive Congresswoman from Connecticut. This apparently was not to add political argument, but to provide that element called "color."

There were, of course, other Republican women with more experience in public life, with more skill in public speaking, and with more mature wisdom concerning the problems before the country. But the Congresswoman selected was unusual in that she had physical attractiveness of a very special sort. This was supposed to provide a sense of the unusual because it contradicted the old and wholly irrational public conviction that a good-looking woman is not supposed to be intelligent. In short, the Republicans tried to provide a novelty, quite out of line with the straight business of statesmanship.

THEY STARTED SOMETHING—But the Republicans who made that decision lost sight of the fact that when they started a contest in personal attractiveness, the other side could play that game, too. They did not realize that the pursuit of beauty is an endless quest, and that when the perfect woman is found, some other, more perfect, woman appears. They did not realize that they had begun an undertaking which would get few votes and which would finally end in utter frustration.

The Democrats countered with the attractive Helen Gahagan Douglas, more experienced in stagecraft than her Republican counterpart, and just as well prepared to produce a satisfactory script.

Now we have had the two speeches of the beauties, and the result is an advancement neither in learning nor in the exploration of the problems that vex the nation. The speeches were, to be perfectly frank, very ordinary political harangues. That may be said in fairness not because they were delivered by women, but because of the extra, special qualifications that were insisted upon when these particular women were chosen. Ruth Hanna Simms could have better served the Republicans, and Judge Florence Allen could have done better for the Democrats.

—WOMEN ARE CITIZENS—The point about it all is that the two parties must learn what every woman—or almost every woman—knows. They must learn that there is no special body of political doctrine that concerns women which is not equally important for men. Women asked and received the right to vote because they properly claimed that they had an equal right to share in the burdens of citizenship, that their stake in the political fortunes of the country was the same as that of men, and that politically there were no essential differences between good women citizens and good men citizens.

This is the position most sensible women take. They do not want a separate political status. They want to be addressed as citizens, not as women citizens. There are enough class distinctions growing up around us without our creating one based upon sex. That is why it is to be hoped that, as this campaign progresses, we shall hear fewer and fewer political appeals specifically addressed to women.

BLUEBERRY HARVEST—Contrary to earlier reports the blueberry crop this year in Delta county will be of the stingy variety, say weekend pickers who searched here and there in the county for a few quarts of the berries. Best picking reported was north of Nahma along the federal forest highway.

The scarcity of blueberries in this area is one of those unfortunate happenings that blueberry lovers look upon as near-tragedy. To the true Upper Peninsulan there is nothing to which he more looks forward to than the blueberry season.

Since late last summer, when the last fragrant blueberry, plump and round and heavy from the weight of its own sweet juices, fell to the ground, the taste buds on many a tongue have watered for a mouthful of the delicious berries. Since then they have had to content themselves, largely, with opening a can of blueberries—a poor excuse indeed for the fresh product.

The more fortunate, of course, have been able through the winter and spring to bring a box of berries out of quick-freeze storage; watching the color and patina of ripe juicy fruit, the taste buds on many a tongue have watered for a mouthful of the delicious berries. Since then they have had to content themselves, largely, with opening a can of blueberries—a poor excuse indeed for the fresh product.

WITH OR WITHOUT—There are two schools of cultivated taste for the consumers of blueberries. One holds to the firm belief that no blueberry deserves having its pristine flavor, its own natural sweetness, spoiled by the addition of sugar and cream. On the other side of the table sits the man who revels in the combination of fresh berry flavor, redolently sandwiched between that of thick sweet cream and a bit of sugar.

Also in contrast to the blueberry lover who takes his straight, is the one who believes the berries are at their best only when served with sugar alone—either powdered or granulated.

But to all of them the blueberry itself comes first. Without them life is but the anticipation that soon will come the blueberry season and a renewal of faith and hope for the more abundant life.

The Bugler would nominate the blueberry as the most enjoyable of all wild berries. Especially when eaten straight from bush to mouth while picking in the plains of our Upper Peninsula country. The sun has warmed the outside of the berries, but inside they are cool and crisp. The redolent smell of the pine brings a sharpening of appreciation for a berry that seems to contain in itself the whole essence of a northern summer.

INDIGNITY OF IT ALL—Somehow to the epicure, blueberries have a distinctive dignity, a wilderness strength, and a tender sweetness that makes the blueberry festivals of the past border on the vulgar.

For any person with an ounce of conscience or a sense of the fitness of things can stomach seeing blueberries used as a wrestling mat, for instance, is more than they can understand. Yet this has been done, sad to relate, and the unfeeling populace stood by to laugh in callous thoughtlessness while the berries were trampled underfoot, their blue blood spilled to make a Roman holiday.

Perhaps the war has taught a new respect for food — and the scarcity of blueberries these past two seasons is teaching us anew that nature can take as well as give. If nothing else has brought the blueberry into the blue diamond class it is the price tag on the box. Americans have an abounding respect for the expensive.

THESE ARE THE DAYS—Now the blueberry season is here again pickers are faced with the wartime difficulty of transportation to and from the berry plains. Not many folks can get very far on a A card—and B and C supplemental gas isn't issued for berry picking trips.

But the pickers are getting out and back as best they can, helping harvest a part of the crop that is abundant even in scarcity. For far back in the out-of-way sections of the county, on pine ridges in inaccessible swamps, in the far reaches of north Delta county, are acres and acres of blueberry plains and marshes, turning blue under the kiss of a ripening sun.

These are the days when those fortunate enough to spend a day berry picking find themselves benefited not only in 10 quarts of berries rich in vitamin C, but in health-giving happiness and a new mental equilibrium. The wind complains agreeably through the pine trees, the sun is warm and invigorating on your back, while all around nature decorates an elaborate stage for Summer — star of the year.

ON THE MARKET—Those who relish blueberries have been heard to lament publicly that most eating places don't know what to do with blueberries. Invariably the fruit is stewed into a tasteless mess, thickened with whatever the cooks have at hand, and is thrown into what they claim is a pie. This piece of inedible insult is dishied out in fractions to a gullible public.

Restaurants and hotel dining rooms would do better to put the berries in the refrigerator, keep them fresh, and serve them fresh. In this way the servings of berries could be larger, the trade would eat and order more, and the cook would be spared the time so she could spoil something less worthy. A good blueberry pie is justified, but there is no excuse for the article usually sold as such. Better a bowl of fresh berries.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—The uncensored diplomatic pouch from London reports that the proportion of Americans being killed by Hitler's robot bombs is greater than the proportion of British. This is because Americans in London haven't learned to adjust themselves to living in a city where death lurks at every corner.

Since the number of Americans in London is less than the number of British, the total number of Americans killed is naturally less than the number of British killed, but proportionately American lives lost are greater.

What happens is that a Londoner instinctively looks for the nearest lamp-post, pillar, pile of bricks or anything that will serve as protection. He does this before there is any explosion or even any noise of an approaching robot. He has been trained to do it for four long and perilous years during which death was constantly dropping out of the sky, in the same way that a single-engine airplane pilot flying from Washington to New York is constantly on the lookout for emergency landing places such as cow pastures, even when his motor is whirring perfectly.

Because Americans aren't trained in watching for means of protection in the street, they lose that split second's time necessary to get out of the way of flying glass and bricks.

In addition, American troops suffered one unhappy accident when a robot bomb landed in the middle of a detail of men who were getting ready to leave in trucks. Lined up in a London street, they were wiped out.

—DESTRUCTION OF THE ROBOT—

Authentic London reports are not too encouraging regarding destruction of the robot bomb. Greatest success has been in knocking it out in the air with fighter planes. However, it takes a robot just 3 and 1/2 minutes to cross the Channel, so the fighters have to work with terrific speed. (Total time from the bomb's launching until the time it hits London is estimated at 10 minutes.)

If they knock the bomb down over London, it explodes with just as much damage as if they had let it alone, so there is only one place to go after it—over the Channel.

Once a robot escapes the fighters and passes over London, anti-aircraft fire is stopped and the only thing to do is to let the bomb take its course and explode wherever it hits.

Furthermore, it is not easy to knock down a robot over the Channel. Gunfire must strike its nose in order to explode it. A cannon ball in the body of the robot plane, however, will usually knock it out. Some intrepid fighters have flown up very close—the robot cannot fire back—and tipped up its wing with the wing of the fighter. When the robot's wing is tipped more than 45 degrees, the gyroscope which keeps it on balance fails to function and the robot goes into a dive.

If the fighter is too close when a robot explodes in the air, the repercussion is so great that the fighter sometimes is knocked to pieces.

Bombing the robot launching platforms is also extremely difficult because they are protected with tons of concrete. About the only way to blow them up is to place a bomb squarely in the mouth of the launching platform. However, since the mouth of the platform slopes into the concrete at a gentle angle, like the entrance to a hillside coal mine, it is difficult to drop a bomb inside.

NOTE—The Germans recently have perfected a clock which goes off inside the robot about ten minutes after it leaves France, or about the time it is over London. This clock turns the robot's tail rudder so that it makes an eerie, graceful curve as if someone were inside piloting it, or as if it were radio-controlled. This sudden turn is calculated by the Germans to send it in a different direction from that in which the British are preparing to receive it.

—NEW CABINET FOR 4TH TERM—

If the President makes the grade next November, those who have talked to him say you can expect some sweeping Cabinet changes before he is inaugurated for the fourth time.

Inside fact is that the Dewey taunts about "old men" running the Roosevelt Cabinet have nettled the man who appointed them. Having caused a national convulsion over old men on the Supreme Court, the President knows he is on weak ground in keeping 70-year-olds in key Cabinet jobs during war-time.

Actually, if it were not for the fact that it would be interpreted as bowing before Dewey, Roosevelt probably would dump over some Cabinet ballast this summer.

However, you can mark it down as certain that, if the President is re-elected, the resignation of every Cabinet member will be submitted; and if not voluntarily submitted, they will be asked for. Out of the list, close friends say, the following resignations will be accepted:

Secretary of War Stimson, age 76.

Secretary of State Hull, age 72.

Secretary of Commerce Jones, age 70.

In addition, it is likely that the resignation of several others will be accepted, regardless of age—among them, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

Miss Perkins submitted her resignation Jan. 20, 1941, but it has lain in the President's files ever since. Morgenthau is not in the best of health and would like to retire at the President's convenience. All in all those in the White House circle swear that, once the campaign is over, there will be a lot of new faces in Washington.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM SET

Continuance Assured; 16 Schools Of County Participate

Continuation for the next school year of the national community school lunch program has been assured through the recent appropriation by Congress of $50,000,000 for its operation, the War Food Administration has announced.

During the past school year more than four million children in 21,000 schools throughout the nation participated in the federal-local program.

In Michigan 1,430 schools with 524 pupils participated. Delta county approximately 10 children in 13 township schools had lunch during past school year. It is learned from C. P. Tittus, county school commissioner, who said the program will be continued this year probably expanded.

Ownership schools participating are Newhall, Bark River, Schaff-Garden, Rapid River, Nahma, Hill, Pine Ridge, Ford River, Central at Stonington, Kip-Perkins and Stone Anderson. In addition the junior high school and St. Joseph's Parochial school of Escanaba and St. Michael of Gladstone had lunch.

The school lunch program is designed to operate under local sponsorship of school boards or other school organizations. WFA reimburses local sponsors for the purchases of food up to a maximum amount determined by the type of lunches served. On a type A lunch which consists of food and milk the government will pay nine cents per child per day.

In some cases parents contribute a small amount monthly which is used to engage a cook to prepare the lunches.

The program was created to safeguard the health of the nation's children by assuring them at least one-third of their daily nutritive requirements.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-207: Edward J., aged 35, sent me a newspaper editorial that dealt with the failure of women to volunteer in sufficient numbers to meet the WAC quotas. Incidentally, some official of the WAC wrote me a letter last year asking for suggestions for pepping up enlistments by women, and I mislaid the letter, so I hereby make public apology and shall devote this column today to methods for increasing enlistments in the WACS, WAVES and other patriotic women's organizations.

"I have heard many appeals over the radio by one of the top-notch women officials of the WAC," Edward explained, "and I wonder if a man's voice would not register more strongly with young women hereabouts."

Men Have More Prestige

"Using myself as a test case, I realized that I may possibly be biased since I am a male. I nevertheless feel a distinct negative reaction to this woman's ice and her manner of delivery. Perhaps a young woman could feel even more negatively regarding enlistment, after hearing this type of radio appeal."

"If all the officers in the WAC were the grade of sergeant or lieutenant were men, don't you think the enlisted personnel would feel happier and register less complaints?"

"I have noticed, for example, that women will work for men with less complaint than when they are working for their own sex. Aside from a few intense feminists, the majority of women seem to prefer male superiors, whether in business or politics, education or the professions."

"Maybe our women's patriotic organizations would have been far better patronized by volunteers, if men headed such groups and held the superior offices. What do you think of my ideas?"

What Do You Women Think?

Perhaps it would be more profitable if I turned Edward's question to you women, since you are the folks to whom the WAC organization is making its appeals?

If a woman physician and a male physician of equal training and skill were to open offices in your town, would you women readers prefer the female doctor or the male doctor?

In much the same fashion, do you patronize women dentists and lawyers as readily as you do male dentists and attorneys?

Do you prefer to have a woman in the pulpit of your churches, or a man there?

In the factories and offices, do you women workers prefer to have a female supervisor or boss, or would you rather work for a man?

Even in the realm of newspaper columnists where male and female writers deal with child psychology, as well as love and marriage problems, do you prefer a male columnist to a female columnist? Your answers to these questions would probably be very helpful to the leaders of our women's military organizations.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Veterans Who Want Jobs Are Getting Them Here

All over Michigan and the nation veterans' reemployment programs have been geared to getting jobs for the servicemen when they come home—and here in Escanaba the program is working smoothly with the cooperation of local industries.

Contacts have been made and maintained in some instances with more than 100 veterans home from the war, while about 40 have been directly assisted in finding employment. It is a direct, workable and working answer to the problem of placing the veterans in jobs.

The program has gone along without fuss or fanfare through the local Veterans Clearing House

News From Men In The Service

Of interest to Escanabans who knew his parents, is the following item from the Okland paper:

"Marine Cpl. Joseph F. Hodson, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodson, didn't even know how to operate a sewing machine a few months ago, but now he tailors uniforms for Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' Marine guard."

"According to an announcement from Pearl Harbor, young Hodson let a friend talk him into buying the sewing machine. Although sewing is just a hobby he pursues now in his off-hours, he is given full credit by his buddies for the snappy appearance of an outfit termed by the late Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox the smartest Marine guard I have ever seen."

"Hodson has been stationed at Pearl Harbor since last August."

His parents are both former Escanabans, the father a brother of Dr. R. E. Hodson and the mother a sister of Mrs. Frank Hira.

YOUR INVASION!

FROM General Bradley, leading the Invasion ground forces, right through every rank, American men now face a brutal, desperate, able enemy. For this invasion has only begun—before our fighters lies a hard and bloody task, one that demands all their courage, backed by all your faith in their ultimate victory.

That faith will be tested many times in this invasion—in grim struggles, setbacks, possibly even temporary defeats. It will be up to you to remember that early victories usually only mean more savage opposition from a foe made more bitter, more ruthless as the shadow of his doom grows larger—up to you to keep that faith in days and nights of gloom as well as in hours of triumph.

There is little that you can do to show that you realize what they must face, perhaps for many months. But one thing you can do—back the attack with every dollar you can spare! Let the Bonds you buy in this greatest of Drives be the measure of your belief in their ultimate victory!

"I'd rather be with them— than waiting for them"

I'LL ADMIT there's a funny lump in my throat . . .

But here I am, loaded with my overseas pack, climbing up the side of the biggest boat I've ever seen—and glad of it.

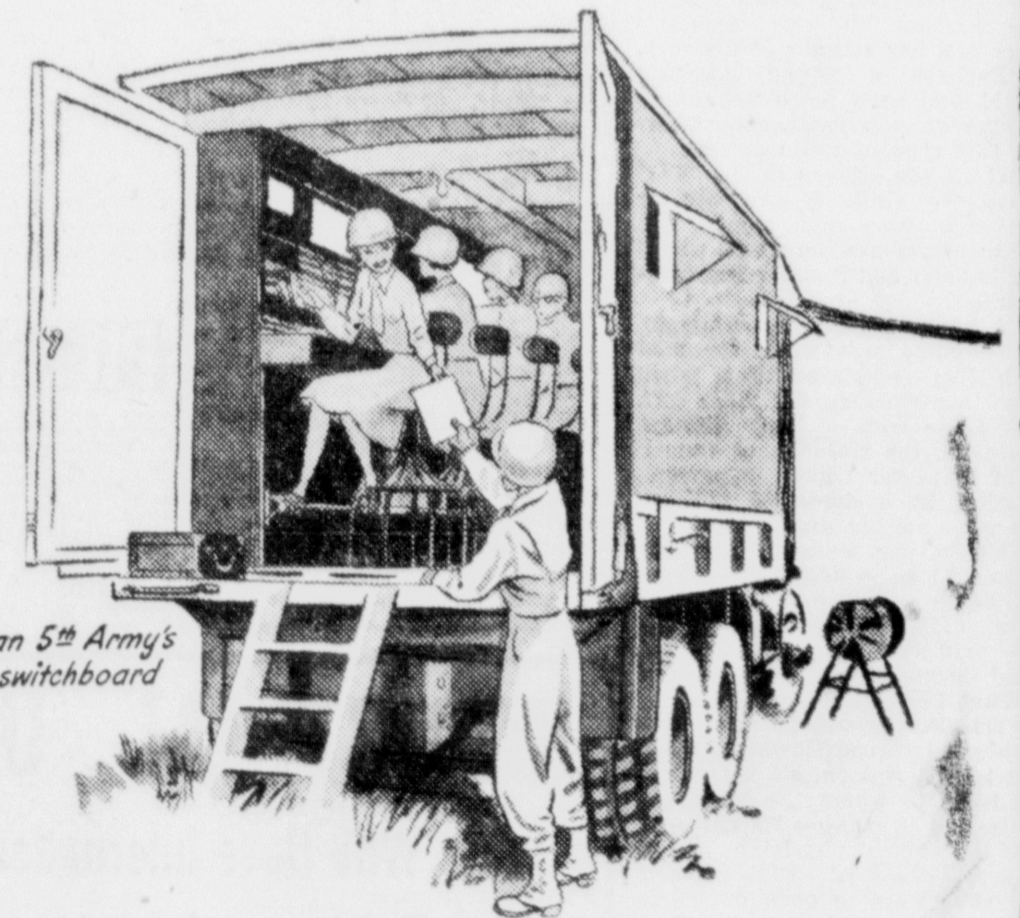

Glad I said "good-by" to civilian life months ago—and went into the WAC. Glad I went through all the training and on to active duty.

For, as a Wac, I'm really working for victory. Sharing the hard part of war. And the glory that will come.

I'd rather be with them—in the Army . . .

Than waiting back home—thinking up things to make the time go by—listening to the news—wondering when it'll all be over.

Yes, I'm in the Army and on my way—and I'm glad to the bottom of my heart!

TRAINMEN OKED KELLY, DIGNAN

Republican Candidates Receive Endorsement At State Meeting

Harry F. Kelly and Herman Dignan, Republican candidates for governor and secretary of state, were endorsed by the Michigan state legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and its Auxiliary at the meeting of the board which closed Saturday at Lansing, according to John M. Johnson, local delegate of Good Will Lodge 103, who returned here yesterday.

The meeting was held for the purpose of writing a legislative program, which will be introduced at the next session.

Safety laws involving clearance of rights-of-way and proposing establishment of the number of men comprising a crew were included in the legislative program drafted, Mr. Johnson said. The board expressed itself also in support of all legislation benefitting returning veterans of World War II.

The Brotherhood reflects the interests of approximately 15,000 members, while the Auxiliary has an approximate membership of 5,000 members, according to Johnson.

Sergeant Tells Of Death Of Gladstone War Hero

PFC. Raymond Rivers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rivers of Gladstone, whose death in action in Italy was reported June 14, lost his life while covering the advance of his comrades, according to a letter received yesterday by his parents from Platoon Sergeant J. G. Barnes, written from Italy.

In recognition of the fact that he gave his life to save the lives of his mates, Ray has been awarded the Silver Star, which his parents will receive, according to Sgt. Barnes' letter. "This is just a small token to show the great appreciation of his work. It is something that only the best of soldiers receive, and yet it isn't enough for Ray," Barnes wrote.

His letter follows: "Dear Mr. and Mrs. Rivers: 'Now that I know you have received word from the government about the death of Ray, I wish to tell you that our entire platoon shares your burden with you, for his death was one of the greatest misfortunes that we have had to endure, as he was almost like a brother to each of us.'

"I wish to express to you the feeling that I, as his sergeant, and the remainder of the platoon had for Ray. In the many boys with whom we have come in contact we have never found a better one than Ray. He had a disposition that was unsurpassed and in all the hard going we had to face I never saw Ray when he didn't wear a smile and was not ready and willing to do any task he was given. And when given one to do, there was never a doubt of it being done in an excellent manner.

"You are interested I know regarding the way we lost Ray. His section was given a tough job to do one day while we were making an attack. While they were doing it, Ray took his machine gun to a position where he would do the most to relieve the pressure that the enemy was placing on his buddies. He succeeded in accomplishing his mission, although he was fatally wounded while doing so.

"We shall never forget this tragedy, but we honor him in the highest for his magnificent work and the way he gave his life to save the lives of his friends. That, you know, is the greatest thing a person can do for his country.

"Although he gave his life, Ray died the type of death any soldier prefers. If and when his time comes, it was not one of long suffering without medical attention. As soon as he was wounded the company aid men were by his side giving him all the attention possible for anyone to receive. That wasn't enough though, for nothing could be done to save our dear friend.

"He knew everything until his last breath knew he couldn't make it, but wasn't afraid to go, for I truly believe he had lived a life that prepared him for this sad event. He lived only a few minutes after he was wounded.

"I hope I may have said a few things to at least ease your mind on some of the questions you may have wondered about. I might also mention that he received a nice burial.

"In conclusion let me express our deepest sympathy to you, for you have lost one of the best sons that any mother and father ever had. But, he died as a hero. May God bless you and help to lighten your burden is my prayer."

Shriners Hold Reunion At Marquette Saturday

Marquette.—A class of at least 50 candidates will trek across the "hot sands" here Saturday, July 29, when Ahmed Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, holds its 1944 summer ceremonial and reunion, it was announced yesterday by Dr. George A. Shaw, Manistique, potentate of Ahmed, who said committees in charge of the program have gone to "unusual lengths" to provide an exceptional program of entertainment for Nobles and their ladies.

"We are going to have one of the most interesting reunions Ahmed has held in a long time," Shaw said. "Candidates are being rounded up from all parts of the Upper Peninsula and the class probably will exceed 50. Our reunions are always something no Shriner wants to miss, but this will be something quite out of the ordinary. We expect a record-breaking attendance and I hope all Shriners, and their ladies will make a special effort to be on hand."

C. P. Fred, chairman of the executive committee, said yesterday that the entertainment program will be highlighted by Sid Page's Variety Review, a special presentation of singing, dancing, comedy and music, starring the "Sensational Tarbell." It will be a bang-up show and, because the facilities of Masonic temple are limited, the committee has arranged to hold the show in the Kaufman auditorium of the Gravenet high school, where there will be seating accommodations for everyone.

The show will begin at 9:30 and will follow the Shriners' banquet in Masonic temple and the dinner for Shriners' ladies in the Northland hotel. Widows of Shriners are especially invited to attend the reunion and take part in the program of entertainment prepared for the ladies.

Among guests of Ahmed for the ceremonial will be Shriners from Milwaukee, Chicago, Madison, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Saginaw.

By Ken Gunderman

Despite the fact that he once vowed he would never hurl another game for the Cleveland Indians under the management of Lou Boudreau it appears that Jim Bagby may be the man to boost the Tribe into the thick of the pennant race.

At the close of last season Bagby joined the merchant marine, declaring he was through with Cleveland. But rejected by the draft last week, the 17-game winner of the past two years hurried to the wigwag and Friday night got into action with a five-hit victory over Philadelphia and Luke Hamlin.

When Coach Dave Ripley starts issuing mole skins to prospective members of the 1944 Sault Blue Devils eight lettermen and ten experienced reserves are expected to be on hand.

Ripley will have the makings of what may be one of the fastest backfields in the history of U. P. high school football. Returning are two dash men, Jack Broese and Ross Annatoy, both lettermen. Then there is shifty Willard Splan and the all-around Charles Gerrish.

Veteran Joe Laws will again cavort for the Packers. The former All-America quarterback from Iowa has been a Packer since shortly after the All-Star-Chicago Bear game in August, 1934, so when he turns out this fall it will be his eleventh season with the Green Bay eleven.

Laws with 108 points ranks sixth among Packer scorers. Records show that last fall Laws was among the first dozen leaders in average yardage. He made an average of 5.4 yards in 43 rushes. In addition Laws is an excellent team general and handles punts as well as any back in the league.

Dodgers Cut Loose With 9-Run Tripping For 12-7 Triumph

Brooklyn, July 24 (AP)—Threatened with losing their sixth straight, the Brooklyn Dodgers broke loose in the seventh inning tonight and staged their biggest single frame of the season, sending nine runs over the plate and hitting Rip Sewell off the mound, to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 12 to 7. The smallest night crowd of the year, 9,072, saw the Dodgers make five of their twelve hits in the big round, the longest blow of the frame being Dixie Walker's home run with one on.

The Pirates batted Cal McLish off the mound in the fifth when they scored six of their markers and seemed to have victory in their grasp. Charley Fuchs followed McLish to the mound and was returned the winner. However, it was Curt Davis who protected the lead for the Dodgers. He didn't allow a hit in the two frames he worked. Lady Luck Holds Out For Brownies To Nose Red Sox

St. Louis, July 24 (AP)—Denny Galehouse, taking over the starting assignment left by Nelson Potter's suspension, couldn't quite do the distance against the Boston Red Sox today but the league-leading Browns nevertheless won, 6 to 5, for an even break in the series with the third-place.

For seven innings, Galehouse was master of the Sox, holding them to one run on Bobby Doerr's 13th homer of the season. In the eighth, he yielded another on a double by George Metkovich and a single by Bob Johnson. After Doerr walked, George Caster came in as relief pitcher and the Sox whaled him for a double by Hal Wagner and a single by Eddie Lake to narrow the Browns' margin to one run.

Caster, bore down and fanned pinch-hitting Manager Joe Cronin to end the rally and swept past the Sox in order in the ninth inning.

The Browns, in consecutive 4-game encounters with their closest rivals, split even with the New York Yankees as well as the Red Sox to maintain their first-place position.

Son Of Man O' War Breaks Neck During Detroit 7th Race

Detroit, July 24 (AP)—W. A. R. Stone, a six-year-old gelded son of Man O' War owned by Anthony Graffagnini of New Orleans, broke his neck and died in an accident at the starting gate today before the running of the seventh race at the Detroit track.

War Stone reared at the starting gate, tossing his jockey, Tommy Bates, who was unhurt. The horse smashed his head on the gate and was dead when attendants arrived. The horse was scratched and no bets were accepted.

Adams, the nation's leading winner for the last two years, tomorrow begins a ten-day suspension imposed by Stewards today following an investigation of Saturday's first race in which his mount, Drumont, was disqualified. Adams was charged with cutting across the field in the stretch.

Escanaba And Bark River Victims As County Loop Opens

Gladstone defeated Escanaba, 12 to 10, while Nahma nosed Bark River, 2-1, in the opening games in the Delta county baseball league played Sunday.

Stolen bases paved the way for Gladstone's victory, the Upbays chalking up 15 pilfered bases. Escanaba rallied in the eighth to load the sacks and came within one run of knotting the count on Dufour's double. Young struck out three while Herscheid and Ross each retired four.

In the Nahma-Bark River game, the former took the lead in the second inning and then put across the winning run in the last half of the frame.

Three Pitchers Are Pounded As Cards Whip Braves, 7 to 1

Boston, July 24 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, paced by Marty Marion and Johnny Hopp, blasted three Boston Braves' pitchers to gain a 7-1 victory in today's series win.

Flatterballer Jim Tobin opened for the Braves but he was blasted off the mound in the fifth inning when the Cards collected four runs on three hits, including Hopp's one-on homer.

Stan Klop took over and gave the Cards two hits and as many runs before making way for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Ted Wilks limited the Tribesmen to five scattered hits and they escaped a whitewash in the seventh when Butch Nieman drew a pass and, after being sacrificed, scored from second base on Dee Phillips' single to left field.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

JULY BASS ARE FINICKY

The male bass come off the spawning nest about the middle of June in most of our northern waters. About two weeks before this period the female merely visited the cleared nest of the male, deposited her eggs and left.

The male ate little, if anything, during the two weeks he fanned and guarded the nest. The female was fat, healthy by the time the male bass herded and guarded the newly hatched fry after they left the nest.

Sometimes he would stay with the new brood for several days. He would hit at anything while on the spawning nest and would strike savagely at any fish or plug which came among his school of little ones.

Many a fisherman is amazed at his prowess, in catching bass, during the period of nesting or shortly after nesting. He doesn't understand how it is that he was so expert in June and so inept in July.

It is in June that most plugs and lures get their big reputation for being great bass takers. It is July and August that they lose it. There are no great majority of males protecting nests or fry during those months.

The male bass is again in good condition, almost as good as the females, who have done nothing but feed for weeks. All bass are then more cautious, more finicky. The expert of June becomes the amateur in July and August.

He wonders why the plugs, spoons and flies of June do not seem to work at all as well in July. He forgets that the water is much warmer, that the bass seek the colder water, the depths. They aren't on the shorelines nesting now, nor are they protecting their young brood in the shallow waters.

He doesn't realize that bass strike more slowly now than in June. The fast working plug or the jerky fly is looked over more slowly by the bass now. That so often, for the fish may dash so often, for he fish may dash to the lure but not take.

The bass rushes to look it over, gauges its speed, and he is a good judge of pace, decides it is phony and turns away. He is well fed now and that whipping rod, that moving arm, or the man standing in the boat warns him.

The bright plug, floating on the surface, or just under it, the fly or spoon worked too fast in the daytime does not produce. The underwater plug, spoon or fly gets them now.

In the evening, the poppers and the floaters bring back the fisherman's confidence. It is dark then, his mistakes are not seen, the bass are hungry. He doesn't reel in "like mad" for he studies the action of his lure and gives it a change of pace which fools a fish every now and then.

Skeletons Become Reefs Coral reefs such as Australia's Great Barrier Reef are not actually built of corals but by accumulation of their limestone skeletons.

TWILIGHT TILT WON BY TIGERS

Trout Blanks Athletics 1-0 For 14th Victory Of The Season

Detroit, July 24 (AP)—Paul (Dizzy) Trout gained his sixth successive victory and 14th of the season tonight by blanking the Philadelphia Athletics, 1 to 0, on four hits in a twilight game before 10,805 spectators. The Detroit Tigers thus had the satisfaction of beating Bob Newsom for the second time this season.

Old Bob pitched a four-hitter, too, for the seven innings he was on the scene. But two of the safeties were doubles by Rudy York, the second driving Roger Cramer home from first base in the fourth inning with the only run. Newsom was lifted for a pinch hitter and jittery Joe Berry pitched a hitless eighth.

Trout faced only 31 batters and permitted no one to reach second base while attaining his second 1944 shutout, both over Philadelphia. Trout didn't walk a man and he fanned five.

Dick Siebert was safe on Joe Hoover's error in the second but got nowhere. Roberto Estalella blooped a single to right in the fourth inning and lined one to center in the ninth for two of the hits. The others went to rookie second baseman Joe Burns.

Burns singled with one out in the eighth but was erased when pinch hitter Woody Wheaton bounced into a double play. Detroit's 11th twin killing of the season.

York Doubles

York doubled in the second and moved up on Dick Wakefield's infield out. There he was left as Newsom fanned Pinky Higgins and Chuck Hostetter. The next inning Bob struck out Bob Swift and Trout to make it four straight strikeouts before Joe Hoover walked.

In the fourth Cramer beat out a hit to shortstop with one out. With the outfield pulled around toward left field, York dropped a double in right center field, Cramer racing around to second plate. Newsom then disposed of Wakefield and Higgins.

Cramer singled with two out in the sixth for the last Detroit hit but was left on first. Wakefield reached second on a double error in the seventh with none out, but he was retired at third on Higgins' roller, and that ended that.

The shutout was the ninth of the season for a Detroit pitcher. The victory gave Detroit a split of the four-game series although the Athletics still hold an 8 to 7 season margin. The Tigers have won 10 of 14 games in the current home stand.

Rookie Rufe Gentry, returning to starting roles, will face the Boston Red Sox tomorrow in the opener of a four-game series. Philadelphia 000 000 000—0 4 2 Detroit 000 100 000—1 0 1 Newsom, Berry and Hayes; Trout and Swift.

Quigley Takes Over Task Of Rebuilding Kansas U. Fortunes

Lawrence, Kans., July 24 (AP)—E. C. Quigley, whose cry of "you can't do that!" has roared over many sports fields in his long career as an arbiter, took a new job today—rebuilding the athletic fortunes of Kansas university.

The former National League umpire was appointed director of athletics and promised an aggressive sports program for the Big Six school, his alma mater.

And how will he like sitting on the sidelines after these many years of ruling games with roaring decisions that left most amateurs and many professionals too numb to protest?

"I believe I'm going to like it a lot," he said. "It going to be quite a change, but there's permanency to it and that's what I want."

There was nothing fleeting to his job, however, as an umpire in the National baseball league. He was with the league for 32 years, 25 of them as an active umpire. He then became umpire-in-chief and for the past two years has been in charge of a personal relations department dealing with high school and other teams.

Dykes' Big Evening Spoiled By Yanks

Chicago, July 24 (AP)—The New York Yankees threw a damper on Jim Dykes' contract-signing evening by blasting three White Sox pitchers for 16 hits and an 11 to 5 victory shortly after the hose pilot had signed a new pact to manage the Chicago club through the 1946 season.

A pair of homers, Bud Mineny's twelfth and Johnny Lindell's ninth, and a triple, a double and two singles led the Yankee attack that kayoed Buck Ross in a five-run third inning and continued against Joe Haynes and Gordon Maltzberger.

Dykes' new contract, signed in President Grace Comiskey's office just before the game, is for two years and will extend his managerial reign here through 13 seasons.

New York 105 261 020—11 16 Chicago 001 030 009—5 10 2 Bonham and Hemsley; Ross; Haynes, Maltzberger and Turner.

Heron and Bittern Return at dusk

By Fern Berry
Shingletown, Mich.—Nature lovers in Upper Michigan must get a heart lift when they see just at sunset—when the skies are a glory color—and the whip-poor-will is starting his evening call—a great blue heron or a bittern or a pair of wild ducks, winging their way across the skies to whatever place they call home, from whatever lonely lake or stream where they have been feeding all day. Upper Michigan has many small wilderness lakes and potholes, small bayous and marshes, and it is here that the heron and bittern feed. Observations show that the birds return night after night, at about the same time, over the same route. No doubt their trip is about ended when we see them just at dusk for it is not likely that they fly far in the darkness.

SKATING RINK POPULAR

Sault Ste. Marie—An ideal summer climate, perfect clear ice made from the blue waters of Lake Superior and the professional advice of the world's greatest blade artists attract hundreds of skaters to the city from all parts of the United States and Canada.

This year the Sault is staging in the Pullar Community Stadium one of the few summer ice palaces open in this country, during wartime, and business is said to have increased more than 50 per cent over last year. There is an average of 75 out of town skaters present for the daily sessions and due to the influx of these skaters it has been necessary to put on an additional patch session each week. An unusual aspect of the daily patch skating is that only one Sault skater is represented. Sunday night skating boasts an attendance of 400 skaters.
